Jeni Danks has a love of nature and fine things. The two go well together when jewellery can be inspired by nature. Never does Jeni go for a walk without bringing home a feather, an acorn, a seed pod, a sea shell or the perfect blackberry to inspire the next piece of jewellery.

A mother of 3 boys and living on the Mornington Peninsula for the last 8 years, having left a professional career life in Melbourne behind has given her more time to learn techniques as a hobby and practice them in her workshop at home. The use of Liberty of London fabrics makes her pieces a little different and also the colours quite seasonal. Jeni and her family have just lived for one year overseas, her new collection is beautifully influenced by that experience.
